

Whitespace Mobile Enterprise

Overview

What is it?

Whitespace Mobile Enterprise allows you to build engaging digital forms that transfers data between your teams within your own environment.

Its broad range of features have been designed to streamline your operations, whilst giving you full control of the system.

How does it work?

Build digital forms specifically to meet your requirements, adding interactive input fields like drop down lists and check boxes, and applying validation rules ensures data is always complete.

The system can be integrated into your existing software through an API, giving your back office team access to updated information immediately, and rules can trigger automated actions like sending reports to managers, reducing administrative time and effort.

Within Whitespace Mobile Enterprise, you can set the system to reflect your brand, upload the app to a mobile store and setup your own clients within your environment, helping you manage the overall operations.
